Women and Work The Fair Work Act 2009

How does it affect you?

Following the introduction of the Fair Work Act on July 1 2009, JobWatch has been selected by the Federal Government to deliver free education sessions about the recent changes to workplace laws. This includes the introduction of the National Employment Standards on January 1 2010. The workshops are interactive and the presenting lawyers have a special understanding of how to communicate legal issues simply and effectively. JobWatch Inc is an employment rights legal centre with 30 years experience in employment law and workplace relations.
