

Recognizing and responding to Financial Abuse.

DURATION

Face To Face: A 6.5 Hour Day Training

Online: 6 Hours Spread Over Two half Day Sessions

DELIVERY MODE

Face-to-face/Online
Via Zoom or hybrid

DATE

Course can be specifically tailored to your organization needs.

Public program available throughout the year.

Please see website for updates.

COST

Please email for quote. Costs will usually be between $3000-$6000 depending on your training needs.

DELIVERY

Each interactive session is capped at 25 participants and includes small group activities in breakout rooms.

WHO IS THIS TRAINING FOR?

This is an essential professional training for frontline workers, managers and business leaders in Financial, Insurance, Real Estate, Legal and Government sectors who want to expand their knowledge and skills in understanding, recognizing and responding to Financial Abuse.

COURSE CONTENT

This one-day tailored training will be based on your workplace needs and time frames. The course content will give you and your team the skills and knowledge to understand, recognize and respond to financial abuse. Participants will be empowered to support staff and clients who are experiencing financial abuse, and they'll be equipped to provide referrals to appropriate support services.

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

- The root causes of family violence.
 - Who experiences family violence in Australia
 - Recognising different types of financial abuse
 - Increased confidence to respond to the impact of financial abuse on the victim-survivor
 - Confidence in the belief that your work can minimise harm and make a difference to victim-survivors and their long-term economic safety
 - What you can do to be a part of the change.
-

DELIVERY

This can be delivered as a one-day face to face workshop or an online workshop over two days. Our Face to Face and Online training is interactive and collaborative experience. You will have access to an interactive training session facilitated by two highly experienced trainers, including group discussion and exercises.

For any queries or requests, please contact Mia McDonald consultancyservices@wire.org.au or telephone: 0405 343 628.
